

I recently learned that Sinclair Broadcasting is having it's stations run an anti-Kerry documentary right before election day. To me that is an abuse of the public airwaves. Why not present neutral information on candidates and let the public make their own decisions? The right of a free press has been sacred since the founding of our country. However, the press does not seem free, it seems to be owned by large corporations who tout their own opinions. Please do not run negative information. Let the public make their own informed decisions.
